BIARPELAL CONSTIPATION.-How effect a certain and permanent cure.—Some occupa tions of life predispose to costivenss, especially the which allow but little exercise. Persons who co tract this unfortunate habit of body, under such circomstances, might persibly be rel ved b changing their sedentary employments for others of a more active kind; but this is by no mea a certain. Habitual constipation is a very obstinate disorder. All the ordinary so-called remedies invariably aggravate it. Nothing can be more is jurious than the contin-ued use of strong aperients. They at first irritate and finally almost paralyze the bowels-rendering them so torpid that enormous doses of cathartic medicines have no effect upon them. A mild sperient, combined with a gentle stimulant, is the true tensedy; and a combination in the happiest proportion, of these ingredients, is found in Rostetter's of Physical Culture on the Health, Care, Letter Heads - Every business man ates the whole intestinal canal, while quietly re-Erie.
